Can the architect, owner, or project receive LEED credits for participating in this recycling program?

Only the project can receive LEED credit for recycling ceiling panels, not the architect or owner. Per LEED Material Credit #2, Construction Waste Management: recycling ceiling panels will be a supporting component of the requirement to recycle 50% of the project's construction waste. Calculations can be completed by weight or volume but must be consistent. Following these guidelines and implementing a Construction Waste Management Plan may entitle the project to 1 LEED Point.
